

HIST 6343

The American Revolution

Delivery Method: Online

Instructor: Dr. Jeff Washburn

Contact Information: Via email and Canvas messaging from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Monday-Friday every day that school is in session.

Email: washburn_j@utpb.edu

Office Phone Number: 432-552-2312

Office Location: MB 4114

Student Hours: Available by Appointment via Microsoft Teams.

Please contact me through Canvas message or email for appointments as my office hours will be held virtually via Microsoft Teams.

NOTE: The due dates and times for the activities will adhere to the Central Time Zone. This class does not accept late work.

This course is a Web-based course and is conducted within Canvas. <http://utpb.instructure.com> This course is asynchronous which means students can learn live in real time or later. 100% online courses can be completed totally online asynchronously. There are no prescribed/required campus or virtual meeting times.

Communication etiquette: Compose your electronic communications professionally. If emailing, use a professional address "Dr. Washburn", indicate which course and section you are in, fill in the subject line, and sign it. Use proper spelling, punctuation, and grammar. All students must use the Course Messages tool within the course, or UTPB email, for student-instructor interaction. Please do not count on a reply to an assignment comment.

Course Information:

Course Description: This course examines the causes and consequences of the American Revolution. The class follows a roughly chronological order and is broken into five parts. We will first introduce British colonists and their ties to the British Empire, Native American communities, Africans and African Americans, and other Europeans in the decades prior to unrest in the British colonies. Our course will then examine the growing rifts between British colonists and their home country, how they resisted British taxation and proclamations, how they defined their actions, and what this meant to free and enslaved Africans and African Americans as well as Native American communities. We will then identify the changes in the British colonies as they actively rebelled against their Empire and the reasons why some participated in this rebellion and why some colonists refused. Independence and the consequences of Independence were far-reaching for the former colonies, and our class will analyze the reasons for declaring independence and the consequences of the subsequent war on British colonies, Americans, the British Empire, Native Americans, and free and unfree Africans and African Americans. Our course will conclude with a focus on the consequences of the war at home and abroad, the creation of new American governments, and how we remember the legacy of the American Revolution as we ask the question, Whose Revolution Was It?

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Critically analyze historically significant terms and events in American history during the era of the American Revolution
2. Understand and define the perspectives of Revolutionary America that includes European, African, and Native American peoples, cultures, and voices.
3. Analyze key themes of enslavement, colonialism, independence, agency, and representation and their role in Revolutionary American history.
4. Develop critical thinking and analytical skills through analysis of primary and secondary sources of American history.
5. Improve writing skills through evaluation of primary and secondary source material.

Required Materials:

Primary and Secondary Sources

- Our course will include several book length manuscripts that you will complete for discussion sections, book reviews, article analyses, and critical analysis for your research paper assignment. Students will be notified of the assigned book-length manuscripts prior to the first day of the semester.

- There will also be several articles, book chapters, contemporary news articles, and primary sources assigned over the course of the semester. These readings will be posted in their respective weekly modules in our class Canvas.

Recommended Materials

- Taylor, Alan. American Revolutions: A Continental History, 1750-1804. New York: W.W Norton & Company, 2016.
 - This book is not required for the course, but it is recommended as it will provide graduate students with a primer on the material we will cover in class.

Class Participation: This course is a reading and writing intensive course. It is critical that you read all assigned materials and submit your assignments on time. Regular and active participation is an essential, unmistakably important aspect of this online course.

Attendance: You are expected to log into the course at least weekly. Thus, if you are ill for a prolonged time and cannot complete course work, you must contact me by course message. Canvas course platforms have a tracking feature. This feature quantifies how often students access different tools, pages, features, links, discussions, etc. in your course.

Computer Requirements

This course is designed as a web-based class, which necessitates specific computer expertise on the part of the student, specific computer equipment or programs, and a commitment on the part of the student beyond that of most other courses. Ensuring you have the proper hardware and software is vital to your success in an online learning environment, and it is your responsibility.

Students can use cloud version of Word, PowerPoint and other Microsoft products through use of their UTPB Outlook 365 and UTPB email address. For more information refer to UTPB Office 365 Page.

Computer Technical Requirements: See Technical Requirements.

For the accessibility and privacy statements of external tools used within courses, go to Accessibility and Privacy Statements.

Microsoft Word is the recommended word processor application for completing assignments. Documents prepared in other word processor applications must be submitted in rich text files (.rtf) in order for the instructor to be able to view them.

Preparation for Computer Emergencies

Computer Crash: Not having a working computer or a crashed computer during the semester will NOT be considered as an acceptable reason for not completing course activities at a scheduled time. NOTE: Identify a second computer before the semester begins, that you can use when/if your personal computer crashes.

Complete Loss of Contact: If you lose contact with me completely (i.e. you cannot contact me via Course Messages), you need to call me at my office, 432-552-2312, and explain the reason you cannot contact me and give me a way to contact you.

Lost/Missing Files: You must keep/save a copy of every project/assignment on an external drive, UTPB Outlook 365 OneDrive, or personal computer. In the event of any kind of failure (e.g. virus infection, student's own computer crashes, loss of files in cyberspace, etc) or any contradictions/problems, you must inform me immediately of the problem, so we can create a work-around.

- NOTE: Submitting a deliberately corrupted or blank file has become a method of fraudulently obtaining extra time for an assignment. If your file is corrupted/cannot be opened, blank, a copy of the template, or similar, it will not be accepted. The only exception is if you realize your mistake and resubmit the correct immediately.

Important Dates

All course due dates are listed on the Course Schedule. Use the Course Schedule button on the course menu to locate the schedule.

Important UT Permian Basin University dates for this semester can be found on the UTPB Academic Calendar.

Online Student Authentication

UTPB requires that each student who registers for an online course is the same student who participates in, completes, and receives credit for the course. UTPB's Distance Education Policy requires faculty members to employ at least two methods of verification to ensure student identities. To access online courses students must login to the UTPB learning management system using their unique personal identifying username and secure password. UTPB's Distance Education Policy requires at least one additional student identification method within the course that has been determined and approved by the faculty or academic program. This course satisfies the second method of student authentication by:

- Presentation of approved photo and ID* through a student verification assignment submission.

*Approved up to date photo identifications are: passports, government issued identification, driver's licenses, military ID from DoD; dual credit and early college high school students use school district identifications.

Course Evaluation and Assignments:

Grade Breakdown:

Assignment	Percentage of Final Grade
Discussion and Participation	30%
Four Comparative Article Analyses (4 at 5% each for 20% total)	20%
Book Reviews (4 at 5% each for 20% total)	20%
Research Paper Proposal	5%
Research Paper	25%
Total	100%

Grading Scale

Grade Scale:

A	= 100-93
A-	= 92-90
B+	= 89-87
B	= 86-83
B -	= 82-80
C+	= 79-77
C	= 76-73
C-	= 72-70
D	= 69-60
F	= 59-0

Note: Borderline grades will be rounded to the nearest percentage. For example, if you have a 92.5 %, I will round it up to a 93 %, or an “A” grade. If you have 92.4 %, however, it will round down to a 92 %, or an “A-” grade.

Grading: I will make every effort to have all assignments graded by the end of the following module. You can check your grades by going to the Grades button on the course menu. If there is any discrepancy in the grade, you must contact me immediately only through the Course Messages tool.

If there are any issues concerning your grade, you may discuss them with me, but only within a certain time frame. I require you to wait three days after receiving your grade before I will consider your appeal. In addition, I will only consider your appeal within Ten Days of you receiving your grade. This allows you a full week to communicate with me. Upon receipt of a grade appeal, I reserve the right to raise, maintain, or lower your grade on the assignment.

Graded Assignments:

All assignments must be submitted via the Class Canvas. The final grade for this course will reflect your efforts in several areas throughout the semester, including:

discussions, book reviews, comparative article analyses, topic proposals, and a research paper. Note: I cannot grade what I do not have. You should keep an extra copy of every assignment you turn in (preferably an electronic version), in case of misplaced papers.

Book Reviews: Over the course of the semester you will write four book reviews. Your book reviews should each be between 750 and 900 words or two and a half to three pages, double-spaced. Each review should provide a summary of the arguments from the book itself and your critiques and assessment of the book (what they did well, what needs work, and what questions you might have) supported by examples from the text. Your book reviews will Individually count for 5% of your total grade. Altogether, book reviews count for 20% of your total grade. It is amazing how fast you run out of space when you have a word count. It is important to start work ahead of time to give yourself time to proofread and critically analyze your paper before it is due.

Article Analyses: Over the course of the semester, you will also write four article analysis papers. In each, you will critically analyze and compare two assigned articles on different facets and historical arguments that concern American Revolutionary history. Similar to your book reviews, your article analysis papers should be between 750 and 900 words or two and a half to three pages, double-spaced each. Your article analysis papers will Individually count for 5% of your total grade. Altogether, they will count for 20% of your total grade.

Textbook Analysis Your final project will be a 12-15 page Research Paper that covers a specific topic relevant to the time period and subjects of this course. Your Research Paper must consist of original research that includes primary and scholarly sources. Papers must have a title that reflects the essay's main theme. All sources must be properly cited and citations must be in the form of endnotes or footnotes. All papers MUST have an original argument that is presented throughout the paper- this is not a "let's take a look," but rather "I argue..." and include scholarly research and evidence. This assignment is worth 25% of your total grade.

Research Paper Proposal: Prior to submitting your full Research Paper, you will submit a Paper Proposal and Sources assignment. This paper proposal must be submitted to me before you turn in your paper. If you do not, I will not accept your paper. All proposals should be 300-450 words, contain a workable thesis, evidence you plan to use, and provide me with a basic concept of what you are planning to accomplish. In addition, cite at least five sources that you plan to use for your paper.

This exercise provides you an opportunity to get a jump start on your Research Paper and to get comfortable with your project prior to submitting your full paper later in class. This assignment is worth 5% of your total grade.

Discussion and Participation: Discussion is vital for graduate courses and you will be expected to participate in weekly discussions on topic relating to our readings. Discussions and participation will take place via online discussion boards throughout this semester and will count for 30% of your total grade. Please read the Discussion Board question carefully, answer all parts, and then actively engage in discussion with your fellow classmates. The Discussion Boards will be posted on the corresponding week's Canvas Module.

Rules of Behavior: Discussion Boards are public to every student in this class (including your instructor) who will see what you write. Please pay attention to the language you use and adhere to the following guidelines:

1. Do not post anything too personal.
2. Do not use language that is inappropriate for a classroom setting, or prejudicial in regard to gender, race, or ethnicity.
3. Do not use all caps in the message box unless you are emphasizing (it is considered shouting).
4. Be courteous and respectful to other people on the list
5. Do not use acronyms like you would use in text messaging. Some of the list participants may not be familiar with acronyms, and anyway, they are not professional.
6. Use line breaks and paragraphs in long responses.
7. Write your full name at the end of the posting.

Be careful with sarcasm and subtle humor; one person's joke is another person's insult, and in a purely written interaction (without the help of body language, expression, or context), mistakes can easily be made.

Policies & Procedures:

Use of Copyrighted Materials: It is the policy of The University of Texas of the Permian Basin to follow the United States Copyright Law of 1976, as amended, (Title 17, United States Code, hereinafter, the "Copyright Act"). Accordingly, all faculty, staff and students of The University of Texas System and its component institutions should follow these policy guidelines: Copyrighted Materials

Academic Integrity & Scholastic Dishonesty:

The academic community regards academic dishonesty as an extremely serious matter, with serious consequences. Any effort to gain an advantage not given to all students is dishonest whether or not the effort is successful. Any suspicion of academic dishonesty will be reported and investigated. A student who engages in scholastic dishonesty that includes, but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, and collusion will receive an "F" for the course.

This course will adhere to the plagiarism policy set forth by the UTPB Student Code of Conduct. If there is evidence of any deliberate violation of academic integrity, your instructor will pursue the most reasonable response the University allows. Flagrant plagiarism, cheating, and dishonesty will not be tolerated and will result in punishment to the full extent of the Student Code of Conduct.

Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to the appropriation of, buying, receiving as a gift, or obtaining by any means material that is attributable in whole or in part to another source, including words, ideas, illustrations, structure, computer code, other expression and media, and presenting that material as one's own academic work being offered for credit.

View the UTPB Student Conduct Guidelines.

Academic dishonesty is more than "cutting and pasting." This includes, but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, falsifying academic records, misrepresenting facts, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student such as, but not limited to, submission of essentially the same written assignment for two courses without the prior permission of the instructor, or the attempt to commit such acts.

All persons involved in academic dishonesty will be disciplined in accordance with University regulations and procedures. For complete information on UTPB student conduct and discipline procedures consult the University's Handbook: Scholastic Dishonesty.

This is information you will need throughout your academic career and the University Scholastic Dishonesty Policy states that you may receive a zero on the course work which could cause failure in the class and/or suspension or dismissal from the college.

Student's Privacy Policy: All students records/information are confidential. Only the course teacher and registrar have access to student information. In case of a Dual Credit student - only the course teacher, registrar, assigned school district personnel (counselors and mentors) have access to the information of the students who belong to their school district.

Student educational records are protected by FERPA, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. It is a federal law that pertains to the release of and access to student educational records.

FERPA rights apply to a student, a person who is or who has been attending this institution regardless of age. As a student at UTPB, FERPA applies to personally identifiable information in educational records. Personal identifiable information includes items such as the student's name, social security numbers, and personal characteristics or other information that make the student identity easily accessible or traceable.

To find out more about Student's Privacy rights at UTPB, please go to: Accessibility and Privacy Statements.

Tracking: The learning management systems have a tracking features. Statistics are collected that quantifies how often and when students are active in the course and provides information if the student has accessed different pages of the course.

Absenteeism: All the course activities have set dates to be completed and submitted. After the due dates the activities will not be available for the students. Not logging into an online course is considered absenteeism. Contact instructor immediately in case of emergency medical situation.

Course Incomplete/Withdrawal/Grade Appeal: All students are required to complete the course within the semester they are signed up. Incomplete grades for the course are rarely given, will only be granted if the student provides a valid, documented excuse for not being able to complete the course on time, has contacted the instructor prior to the scheduled last class to request an extension, and was satisfactorily passing the class before the situation arose. The student signs a contract that includes the incomplete course activities and the new due dates.

Objections to your grade, or other class issues: The full university policy can be found here. Note: the first thing you must do is get in touch with me, so that we can resolve the issue. If you try to go to someone else (for example, the History Department chair), they will send you back to me, as the policy states. I will make every effort to help you understand anything you don't understand and help you improve your performance on future assignments. Please ask! I'm here to help, and I don't want anyone to do poorly! NOTE: I do not get notifications from Canvas when you add a reply to an assignment comment, so I very likely won't see it. Use email or Canvas Inbox.

Find more information and dates regarding drops and withdrawals by consulting the University Handbook: Drops and Withdrawals and Appeal Process.

Accommodation for Students with Disabilities: The University of Texas Permian Basin in compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act provides "reasonable accommodations" to students with disabilities. Only those students, who an Instructor has received an official Letter of Accommodation (LOA) sent by the Office of ADA for Students, will be provided ADA academic accommodations.

ADA Officer for Students: Mr. Paul Leverington

End-of-Course Evaluation & Instructor Evaluation

Every student is encouraged to complete an end-of-course evaluation/survey provided by UTPB. During the last few weeks of class, you will receive an announcement through email notifying you that the Course/Instructor Survey is available. You may follow the link in the email to complete the survey using the same credentials to access your courses here. When entering the emailed Survey link you will see a list of surveys for you to complete. Another way to find End-of-Course Evaluations is through your my.utpb.edu account > My Surveys & Evaluations are on the first page after you login.

The survey is anonymous and your responses are confidential. Your feedback is critical to us and to your instructor as we strive to improve our offerings, and our support of you, the students.
